Blackwatch Security Syndicates offers an expansive range of superior security services for all necessities. Lieutenant Colonel Janaka Ritigahapola RSP psc FISC, Chairman, established Blackwatch Security Syndicates after serving in the army commando regiment for 20 years. He works closely with his team and uses his comprehensive experience to ease the burden of potential threat. At the entrance to the office, a military helmet with a baron knife pierced through, stands on top of a marble slab with the words 'Who Dares Wins'. This reflects the firm's concept. Lt Col Janaka Ritigahapola explained, "If you don't have a proper strategy to protect your unit, invading forces can overcome you. We usually wear a helmet for protection, but the baron knife has speared it. So you must be cautious when selecting your security. Therefore, we are continuously researching, evaluating, and monitoring data and feedback through our advanced technology systems." The firm provides customized security services for companies, residential properties and special events. A team of professionals diligently serve to assure smooth operations. Blackwatch selects clients who ensure the well-being of the security officer. Lt Col Janaka Ritigahapola said, "We schedule 12-hour shifts; their job demands them to be vigilant. So we are considerate towards the clients who understand the need to provide them with basic amenities." Before deploying guards on assignments, an expert training team prepares all recruits to handle any situation. Blackwatch is dedicated to deliver quality in every aspect and fulfil customer satisfaction. Lt Col Janaka Ritigahapola said, "I wish to thank Major Nissanka Senadhipathi, Chairman, AvantGarde Security Services for supporting me during the early days of the formation of Blackwatch Security Syndicates."
