Speech by Venerable Uduwe Dhammaloka Thero at the Business Today TOP 40 Awards

President Ranil Wickremesinghe, Mathi, and Glenda Parthipan and guests. Joy and well-being in human life depend on the extent to which businesses succeed in generating profits. The Buddha has preached that the poorer one becomes, the more difficult it is for humans to attain Nirvana. Generating wealth and becoming wealthy are intrinsic to the path to Nirvana.

Mathi and Glenda Parthipan are a talented business couple. For three decades now, we have witnessed their business prowess and acumen. Together, from time to time, they have been adding value to their business ventures. The ultimate testament to their continuous quest to add value to their business ventures is what we witness today in this room. Rather than going on a lone journey as entrepreneurs, they have brought the business community together through the Business Today TOP 40 corporate awards.

Talent is the primary quality that every entrepreneur must possess. They must not be lazy. They must think strategically and look for strategies for success. Entrepreneurs must be innovative—continuous success results from innovation rather than remaining comfortable doing what one already knows. Mathi and Glenda Parthipan, yours have been a discerning and thoughtful journey in business. Since you embarked on your entrepreneurial journey, we have witnessed strategic thinking that has gone in to ensure continuous progress and growth, and we are extremely happy for your success.

However, the sole mission of an entrepreneur is not generating wealth. Every entrepreneur must possess unique qualities. Entrepreneurs must focus on maintaining good health. Most businesspeople globally disregard their health to focus on business success and income generation, only to spend their wealth on combating many health problems. We know that Mathi Parthipan is a businessman who invests much time in maintaining good health practices.

We also know that Mathi Parthipan is a businessman who loves his country. We value entrepreneurs who love their country. Businesspeople must embrace national politics over party politics. Businesses that align with political parties can damage themselves. What we have seen in the past is the common practice of businesspeople, government officers, artists, entertainers, and the clergy aligning with incumbent governments. Sri Lanka will prosper if all these individuals embrace a national agenda over partisan politics. Looking back, we see that a lack of political neutrality has harmed Sri Lanka. In such a reality, we appreciate the role played by President Ranil Wickremesinghe by undertaking to steer the country amid multiple challenges. Mr. Mathi Parthipan refrained from embracing party politics, and a testament to that is President Ranil Wickremesinghe's participation in the Business Today TOP 40 awards as the Opposition Leader. You always sought to work with all the leaders across the political divide, irrespective of the outcome, which we genuinely appreciate.

As we meet as a collective in a challenging and crucial year, we hope that Mathi and Glenda Parthipan and their organization and the businesspeople gathered here will have the strength to go beyond their current roles and responsibilities to pursue more meaningful projects to build a better Sri Lanka where all of us can live happily and with satisfaction.

Speech by Upul Perera, Executive Director, BT Options at the Business Today TOP 40 Awards

Venerable Uduwe Dhammaloka Thero, Venerable Diyapattugama Revatha Thero, President Ranil Wickremesinghe, Governor of Southern Province, Ministers, Members of Parliament and distinguished ladies and gentlemen.

It's the 25th anniversary year of the Business Today Awards. We are happy to come back to the Presidential Secretariat to hold the event, adding to the previous prestigious venues such as President's House and Temple Trees.

We are blessed by the presence of both Venerable Uduwe Dhammaloka Thero, who has been very supportive and Venerable Diyapattugama Revatha Thero, who has been our strength at all times, especially at the time when the company was making a lot of changes with the impact on business during the pandemic.

Venerable Galboda Gnanissara Thero, we thank him for his unwavering support and guidance throughout the years. We sincerely miss him today and wish him a speedy recovery.

We are honoured to have President Ranil Wickremesinghe as our chief guest today. He has addressed and shared valuable thoughts and concepts in this event.

We express our gratitude to former President Mahinda Rajapaksa for his support and guidance over the years. We are thankful to Mr Basil Rajapakse for recognizing our strengths and capabilities and giving us impossible deadlines to complete projects. We wish to thank Dr P B Jayasundara and Ms Sharmali Gunewardane.

We also wish to thank Minister Pavithra Wanniarachchi, Minister Harin Fernando and Minister Tiran Alles for all their support. We thank Mr Johnston Fernando, who stood by us and Rear Admiral Sarath Weerasekera, who supported us. We extend our gratitude to the senior advisor to the President on National Security and Chief of Staff, Mr Sagala Ratnayake, the Secretary to the President, Mr Saman Ekanayake and the Private Secretary to the President, Ms Sandra Perera, for the support extended throughout the years. We truly appreciate the support of Dinesh Weerakkody as always. Big appreciation to Thusitha Halloluwa, who has been continuously supporting us.

We thank Nalin Perera, private secretary to the Minister of Tourism, for his support.

Very special thanks to Mr Harry Jayawardane for his support, recognition and concern.

We thank Mr Manilal Fernando for supporting us and Mr Nithi Murugesu for all the advice.

It is with great respect and pride that we speak here about the patronage of Mr Anselm Perera of Mlesna, who has been advertising with us since the first issue of Explore Sri Lanka in May 1987 and continues to support us even today. He persuaded us to re-commence Explore Sri Lanka after the pandemic.

We thank you Mr Thusitha Wijesena of Kandy City Centre, also for your continued patronage.

We thank all the advertisers in our magazines.

During the current challenging period, we recognize the cooperation of Mr Kaleel, Mr Charles De Silva and special thanks to Shiraz, who extended his support when in need.

Moving on to our hotels, Arugambay, we see a positive vibe after 2018 which means to say after four tourist seasons. We must remember that this destination became a buzzword and a must-visit destination in Sri Lanka. Arugambay is one of the best surfing spots in the world. It was at number eight in Lonely Planet's Best in Asia in 2018, even before the country was named number one. It is the first time that a Sri Lankan destination was named on the list. Yet, not so long ago, this coastal town in the southeast of the country was considered seasonal and famed only for surfing with backpackers. BT Options continuously promoted Arugambay and Whisky Point, showcasing that it is a destination for the entire year; thus, Arugambay has been elevated to a global destination through our efforts. It is the first tourist spot to be ever mentioned as a must-visit destination.

Surfing is gaining popularity around the world. President too met the surfing federation in Arugambay when he was the Prime Minister and discussed developing the industry. It was planned to start annually from 2019 in Arugambay and Hikkaduwa.

The global surfing tourism market share of USD 9.5 billion in 2022 and it is likely to surpass USD 17 billion by 2032, moving ahead with a Compound Annual Growth Rate of 6% during the forecast period.

Surfing was introduced for the Tokyo Olympics in 2020. In 2024 Paris Olympics, the surf competition will be held in Tahiti. As Gujarat in India is planning to bid for the Olympics in 2036, Sri Lanka has the chance or advantage to host the qualifying rounds here if we start promoting and holding the world qualifying competitions from now on.

BT Options value the partnerships with Theepan, Naleem and Don Jayasooriya for Paper Moon Kudils, Arugambay Roccos and ArugamBay PodBay, respectively.

We also wish to introduce the partnerships of our other ventures, which were planned before 2019.

Upali Beach Surf Resort at the main surfing point, partnering with Asanka, whose grand father went from Galle to Arugambay and started in 1957.

Peanut Farm in Panama, partnering with Gunasena and his son Wije, the family who has been living and continuing with the tourism business in this property for over 70 years, that is to say, four generations and still struggle to get the necessary approvals to develop. Sad to note that many others trying to possess it unethically. This land is not connected to any other land issues in Panama as it is marked by authorities as a separate property of Gune's family.

While we discuss our entry into the hospitality industry, we express our gratitude to Hatton National Bank and Commercial Bank of Ceylon, who have been facilitating our hotels in Arugambay. It was only with this entry in 2015 we sought financial assistance from commercial banks. We had not obtained any facility from the Banks prior to that. We sincerely thank HNB and Commercial Bank for the support that they extend during this challenging time.

We thank, Dinesh Dodamgoda for always advising us and providing the necessary guidance in the battle on many fronts.

We wish to thank Dinesh Weerakkoday again for conceptualizing Business Today TOP 10, Keith Bernard and Shiron Gooneratne, team members of the Business Today TOP corporate ranking.

We thank Mr Suren Rajakarier of KPMG for his assistance and support in selecting the Business Today TOP 40.

Our special thanks to Thusitha Halloluwa and Ruwan Fernandez for being with us since 1990s.

Our thanks to Mr Hemantha Perera of Fab.

We also wish to bring to your kind attention that BT Options has been selling Apple products and providing services since 1996. We have provided many Apple-based solutions. When Heinlein Society in USA wanted to give an award to Arthur C Clarke in 2004, Apple US requested our support to make it possible via Apple Technology. Our service was highly commended by Heinlein USA, who wrote to Steve Jobs appreciating the service of BT Options as one excellent and resourceful partner. We invite all who gathered here to remember us before you purchase Apple products but not only for support and services.

We strongly recommend all in the audience to use Apple Fitness and we could assist in setting up.

We express our utmost gratitude to the President Ranil Wickremesinghe, Mr Sagala Ratnayake, Mr Saman Ekanayake and Ms Sandra Perera again for giving us this venue to hold this year's award ceremony during this difficult time. As you are aware, we have been self-funding for the selection and awards from the income generated through the advertisements in the publications. Hence, we kindly invite the Top 40 and other corporates to patronage by advertising in Business Today and Explore Sri Lanka. We will look for event sponsorship from next year.

We welcome all your suggestions for the selection, and we are ready to change the criteria if necessary.

Thank You

Private Sector urged to become Engines of Growth in Sri Lanka's economy

During his address at the Business Today Top 40 Awards Ceremony at the Presidential Secretariat in Colombo, President Ranil Wickremesinghe highlighted the need for a strong, export-oriented economy. He emphasized the importance of engaging in comprehensive economic and technological collaborations with India and negotiating entry into the Regional Comprehensive Economic Partnership (RCEP), while maintaining RCEP standards and remaining open to possibilities.

Furthermore, the President emphasized the need for modernizing and updating traditional sectors such as agriculture, fisheries, logistics, and tourism. He also urged the private sector to submit proposals for becoming the engines of Sri Lanka's economic growth.

President Wickremesinghe also discussed the challenges that Sri Lanka faces this year and called for private sector involvement in tackling these challenges. He revealed that the government has set aside a billion rupees for Artificial Intelligence (AI) next year, with a focus on green energy technologies and renewable energy. The President also outlined the government's plans to pursue the Comprehensive and Progressive Trans-Pacific Partnership (CPTPP) after RCEP, for which the government has already established criteria.

President Ranil Wickremesinghe presented Awards to 40 Veteran Businessmen at the Award Ceremony.

This event was attended by Ven. Uduwe Dhammadolka Thero, Deputy Minister Diana Gamage, Members of Parliament Vajira Abeywardena, Dayasiri Jayasekara, Udaya Gammanpila, Sarath Weerasekera, Premanath C. Dolawatta, Senior Advisor to the President on National Security and Chief of Staff to the President Mr Sagala Ratnayake, President's Secretary Mr Saman Ekanayake, Southern Province Governor Mr Willie Gamage, Former Ministers John Amaratunga, Arjuna Ranatunga and Veteran Businessmen including Mathi Parthipan and Glenda Parthipan.

Following is the full speech made by President Ranil Wickremesinghe at the Business Today Top 40 Awards Ceremony.

Venerable members of the Sanga, Members of Parliament, I must mention Mathi and Glenda, distinguished guests and friends. We are meeting in a different surrounding. The story of that we will leave for Mathi to write in his magazine, next time.

It has been two years since our last meeting, and looking back, I don't believe anyone could have predicted the outcome of the past difficult years. Today, we gather here having just navigated our way out of the crisis we faced. However, we still have a long way to go before we can achieve a stable and fast-growing economy.

During this time, the Secretary to the Treasury, the State Minister, and the Governor attended the Spring Session in Washington and received encouraging messages from many multinational organizations that are willing to assist us. However, there is one condition that we need to fulfil, which is our agreement with the IMF.

Recently, I had a Zoom meeting with the Japanese Minister of Finance, India's Minister of Finance, and the Head of the Paris Club in France, who represented all the creditors. They encouraged us to move forward, and we are also in talks with China, our other main partner, to join us in resolving this issue.

We will move forward together and individually, and the progress we have made so far has impressed many. In a short period, we turned the situation around through common sense and tough decision-making. This was probably the most challenging phase of my life, surpassing even my time in the Ministry of Education.

We had to make decisions that adversely affected a segment of the population, but in the long run, it was necessary for the betterment of the country. In the medium term, we can expect to see positive results.

There are two main challenges we face, the first being revenue. Despite everything, we need money. Therefore, we must find ways to increase revenue. Personal and company taxes were raised as the only viable solution at the time, although it is not a perfect solution. We hope to have a better revenue collection system and tax structure in the future. Currently, the Treasury is focusing on revenue collection, and we aim to make improvements this year.

The second challenge is debt restructuring, and there is no need to fear it. As we move forward, we must address the issue of salaries for the government's 1.7 million employees, some of whom will retire while others will find new jobs.

The government's expenditure on the armed forces is also a concern, but we have calculated that by 2028, this issue will be under control. However, the larger concern is the amount of money we will need to pay salaries and pensions for those who will retire in the coming years. According to Treasury estimates, we may run into trouble from about 2030 onwards.

Therefore, this is a crucial issue that we must address. We can restructure debt and increase revenue, but we must also focus on the budget and retirement benefits for current employees. Despite these challenges, we will still need to obtain loans from time to time as we move forward.

Our balance of payment is not currently in our favour, so the next step we are taking is to implement reforms and restructuring to create opportunities for growth. Our immediate action this month has been to present the IMF arrangement to Parliament and request support. By the end of next month, we aim to have our growth agenda ready, with the Economic Stabilization Committee having already prepared their report and other drafts being reviewed and amended by the President's Office and other stakeholders.

Looking towards the long-term future, we have set our sights on 2048, as well as the next five and ten years. Our plan is to open up the economy quickly by removing many of the barriers and hindrances that have been present for the past few decades. Our goal is to become a dynamic and export-oriented economy, with major initiatives such as entering into a comprehensive economic and technological partnership with India and joining the RCEP (Regional Comprehensive Economic Partnership).

Our objective is to reach the RCEP standards and eventually join the Comprehensive and Progressive Agreement for Trans-Pacific Partnership (CPTPP) as well. To achieve this, we must modernize traditional industries such as agriculture and fisheries, develop a new approach to tourism and logistics, focus on green and renewable energy, and prioritize artificial intelligence by setting aside a billion rupees next year for this purpose.

To support these initiatives, we need a skilled workforce, including 10,000 engineers and 5,000 doctors annually, along with IT technicians and other professionals. The government currently operates around 400 vocational and technical training institutes, which may require running two shifts and partnering with the private sector to meet the demand for skilled workers.

As we open up the economy, we are leaving the burden of growth to the private sector, and we expect each of you to contribute to this vision. We will be seeking your input and participation in the coming months, as we work together to build a new future for our country.

We will engage with all of you, and the country will be watching closely. If you want the private sector to be the driving force behind growth, then you need to devise a plan and deliver results. I do not want to take up more of your time. I just wanted to give you an overview of what we intend to do and what we have done.

There have been many queries regarding the growth agenda and our plans for other issues. So, here we are. We are ready to move forward, and we will be consulting with you all in the next few months to determine your contributions and roles in the new economy.

Mohan Pandithage, Chairman and Chief Executive of Hayleys

Respected members of clergies, His Excellency, President Ranil Wickremesinghe, Cabinet Ministers, Members of Parliament, Secretary to the President, Mr. Saman Ekanayake, Chief of Staff Mr. Sagala Ratnayake, and all Senior Government Officials, Distinguished guests.

As the Chairman and Chief Executive of Hayleys I am honoured to accept this prestigious award. It is the second consecutive year that Hayleys has been ranked number one in the Business Today Top 40 list, along with several of our Group Companies. Indeed, over the past few years, Hayleys has consistently topped multiple business rankings in Sri Lanka, despite operating in an unprecedented and challenging environment.

52% of our revenue comes from value-added export businesses, generating US$616 Mn of foreign earnings, constituting 4.2% of the country's export revenue.

Hayleys commands globally leading market positions in several key sectors, such as the coconut-shell activated carbon industry, premium value-added gloves and coconut fibre products. All three of our Regional Plantation Companies are respectively ranked the number one, two and three in Sri Lanka. We are the industry leader in textile manufacturing, sought after for our innovative fabric by top tier global apparel brands. In agriculture, we cater to both domestic and export markets, and are today the country's largest exporter of processed fruits and vegetables. More recently, our Construction Materials sector began aluminium extrusion exports, and we currently ship 200 metric tonnes a month.

We are the number one transportation and Logistics Company in Sri Lanka, bringing in a substantial amount of foreign exchange earnings. The Sector owns the largest fleet of floating assets in the country, including the nation's sole container vessel. Hayleys supplies around 50MW of renewable energy to the national grid. Also we have successfully installed upto 125 MW of Rooftop Solar systems island wide.

32,000 direct employees of Hayleys work hard every day to earn these successes, joined by hundreds of thousands of indirect employees within our communities. This award belongs to each and every one of them.

I extend my heartfelt gratitude to Business Today and to all our partners and stakeholders for their support as we continue this inspiring journey together.

Thank you.

Kapila Jayawardena, Group Managing Director and CEO, LOLC Holdings

Most Venerable Members of the Sanga, His Excellency, Ranil Wickremesinghe, President of Sri Lanka, Honorable Members of Parliament and other Distinguished Guests.

I would like to thank Parthipan and his team for inviting me and for selecting LOLC Holdings into his elite list of best performing companies in Sri Lanka or Sri Lanka's top performers consecutively for a long time and would also like to thank my team because LOLC Holdings wouldn't be where it is today without the strength, the courage and the focus of the 27,000 people that we have within the Group.

Sri Lanka, I think had the most turbulent last three years. Started with COVID, the political unrest and the economic meltdown. And I'm very happy and proud to stand here and say that LOLC Holdings have been consistently improving, consistently growing all our numbers and all our ratios. We have been the most profitable listed company for the past three years. As a proud Sri Lankan, I am very happy to say, today we have a presence in 22 countries. Five years ago we had a presence only in three countries, so there is a very rigorous focus on growing our international business, so that has made us very well rounded and very well diversified and even in Sri Lanka other than our financial institution business which used to be our core business of the group, today, we are Sri Lanka's number one Tea Producer and on the leisure side we have many beautiful properties in Sri Lanka.

LOLC has sponsored Sri Lanka's most generous program of helping the needy. We first started with distribution of food items to the poorest of the poor during the crisis. Now, we are in the process of giving one year's requirement of books to the most needy school children across the country. Both programs of unprecedented scales cutting across all communities, religions, and geographies in Sri Lanka.

I would like to thank you again Parthi for inviting me and would like to wish all of you the very best.

The success of the Bank is due to the passion, commitment and hard work of our dedicated team and I also wish to take this opportunity to thank all present and past employees of the Bank for their contributions.

In conclusion, I would like to mention a beautiful quote by world famous Poet and Author Dr. Maya Angelou on "Hope" that reads:

"If one has courage; nothing can dim the light that shines from within: Let us as a courageous nation keep the attic lights bright and the collective dream sustainable to bounce back and proposer as a country”

Thank you.
