Easy Internet Connectivity for Laptop Users from Suntel

The Suntel CDMA BroadbandAccess Card is an ideal solution that offers laptop users high-speed internet connectivity combined with portability. The card is applied in notebook and laptop computers with PCMCIA slots.

The card is based on the CDMA 2001X network, which has been rolled-out islandwide by Suntel during the past year. The end user is offered a data transfer speed of up to 153 kbps with email, internet and value added services such as voice functions, IVR services, CU, call lists and call forwarding, polyphonic ring tones, directory features and two way SMS capabilities including group SMS and long SMS auto separator.

The card is available at the Suntel centre at Excel World. Suntel also plans to offer customized packages that suit individual needs and meets specific customer requirements.
