

EDB Ranks Brandix As Sri Lanka's Largest Apparel Exporter

Brandix, Sri Lanka's inspired solutions provider for branded clothing, has once again been recognised as the country's largest apparel exporter by the Export Development Board (EDB). Prof G L Peiries, Minister of Export Development and International Trade, felicitated the previous year's top exporters.

Ashroff Omar, CEO, Brandix, stated, "The concluded year was one of the most challenging ever, but it was also the year in which Brandix launched the highest number of projects. We remain committed to investing in future growth and it is heartening to see that our contribution to the export economy of the country has been noted by the policymakers." Comprising of 25 fully integrated manufacturing facilities backed by strategically located international sourcing offices, Brandix provides direct employment to over 25,000 people
