Chandula Abeywickrema, Deputy General Manager – Marketing and Retail Banking, R M P Dayawansa, Assistant General Manager – Specialised Financial Services, senior bank officials and the farming community in and around the Tissamaharama area were present at the event.

Chandula Abeywickrema stated that the primary objective of “Ran Govi Saviya” is to make today’s unsecure farmer get into a more firm footing with a sense of security. Finance will be provided to the farmer by way of a loan in exchange for their gold. He further elaborated and highlighted as to how significantly this will contribute towards developing Sri Lanka’s rural agricultural economy with a great focus on tapping the latent talent of the Sri Lankan farmer. The main attraction of this new scheme is that it will be offered at a very low interest rate of eight percent thus making it very popular amongst the farming community.
