

Hyster Products to be available in Sri Lanka

Posted on

Hyster, the world's second largest manufacturer of lift trucks, has appointed Allied Trading and Engineering Limited as its sole agent in Sri Lanka. Allied Engineering would be Hyster's authorised agent for sales and after sales services in Sri Lanka.

Hyster is a pioneer in lift trucks industry and is a member of the giant NACCO Materials Handling Group Inc., with an annual turnover of over US$900 million.

Hyster's range of lift truck models includes electric, petrol, diesel and liquid petroleum gas (LPG) powered trucks.

"With our commitment to developing, handling and warehousing facilities in Sri Lanka, representing Hyster becomes central to our operations. We are fully geared to provide an excellent after sales service to Hyster users", said Mr Rajah Abeyasinghe, CEO of Allied Engineering.