SLT-MOBITEL discusses Sri Lanka’s enterprise investment potential with top-ranking U.S. officials

Senior officials of SLT-MOBITEL including Rohan Fernando, Group Chairman, Sri Lanka Telecom (third left) and Lalith Seneviratne, Group CEO, Sri Lanka Telecom (third right) met US Ambassador to Sri Lanka Julie J. Chung (Center) and other US officials. Also attending the meeting were Luis G. Salas, Economic Officer of the US Embassy in Sri Lanka (second right); Mohan Weerakoon, PC Director, Sri Lanka Telecom (second left); Janaka R. Abeysinghe, CEO, SLT (right) and Chandika Vitharena, CEO, Mobitel (left).

SLT-MOBITEL met with U.S. Ambassador to Sri Lanka Julie J. Chung and other U.S. officials to discuss the investment opportunities in Sri Lanka for U.S. based-businesses.

The discussion was led by the company’s Group Chairman Rohan Fernando, Group Chief Executive Officer Lalith Seneviratne, and other senior officials from SLT-MOBITEL.

During the meeting, the telecommunications sector was identified to be an important area for U.S. investors, as it has been able to keep critical industries and services connected, especially in the face of unprecedented national challenges in the last three years. Another high-potential investment area identified is Sri Lanka’s digital economy, which is also a national priority.

Commenting on the meeting, Rohan Fernando – Group Chairman, Sri Lanka Telecom, said, “As a national entity invested in the progress of Sri Lanka, our goal is to seek like-minded partners. This meeting was an important first step in encouraging more US-based businesses to invest in Sri Lanka. Building a diverse, multi-faceted investor community in the country is critical. With our superior connectivity solutions, ready-to-go technology platforms, advanced network backbone services, and digital infrastructure capabilities, we are poised to be a high-potential Sri Lankan partner for any enterprise investor in the world.”