Vision Care 109th Colombo Championships Supports Tennis Talent

Janaka Fonseka, Managing Director of Vision Care, handing over the sponsorship to the Sri Lanka Tennis Association (SLTA) representatives.

Vision Care has reaffirmed its commitment to the sport as the Title Sponsor for the 109th Colombo Championship. The Sri Lanka Tennis Association (SLTA) organized the 109th edition of the Grade A tennis tournament.

This marks the tenth consecutive year that Vision Care has been a key sponsor for this event, which has at-tracted a record number of participants and showcased the crème de la crème of Lankan tennis talent. The 109th-Colombo Championship had an exciting lineup of matches and events, drawing attention from tennis enthusiasts and sports lovers nationwide. Vision Care's continued sponsorship reaffirms its commitment to promoting sports and wellness in Sri Lanka, fostering a culture of athletic excellence and healthy competition.

With events ranging from juniors (Boys/Girls – under 12 to 18), Men's and Women's open categories, to Veterans (for over 35, 45, 55, and 65), the Colombo Championships provided an inclusive platform for every segment of the tennis-playing community. The tournament's inclusive nature underscores its significance in nurturing and developing tennis talent across all age groups in Sri Lanka.

Janaka Fonseka, the Managing Director, Vision Care, expressed his enthusiasm for the long-standing partnership, stating, "We are very happy to be involved with this prestigious tournament for over a decade. We believe sports are vital for the nation's health and are strongly committed to supporting the Colombo Championships. The tournament's objective aligns with our corporate objectives, so we want to be part of this wonderful event. Vision Care wants to support young tennis players and bring them up to par with other Asian countries."

The partnership between Vision Care and the Colombo Championship is a testament to the company's broader vi-sion of enhancing the quality of life through healthcare and active living. As the tournament unfolds, participants and spectators alike can look forward to a display of re-markable talent, sportsman-ship, and the unyielding support of a company dedicated to the nation's well-being.