

Vogue Receives ISO 9001:2000

Posted on

(L-R) Nandadeva Perera, Director, Vogue Jewellers; Anura Priyadharshana Yapa, Hon. Minister for Media and Information; Madam Shiranthi Rajapaksha, First Lady; Chandra Hemachandra, Chairperson, Vogue Jewellers; Anura Hemachandra, Managing Director, Vogue Jewellers.

ISO certification was awarded to Vogue Jewellers by its authorized representative for Asia, ICS India. The company's quality policy is a firm commitment towards customers with an excellent product, accompanied by excellent service. "Vogue customers know that when they walk in through our doorway, they can confidently walk out in the knowledge that they have got the best value for their money;" says Nandadeva Perera, Director, Vogue Jewellers. "Therefore it is no great surprise that Vogue's jewellery is accompanied by a life time guarantee. The motivation at Vogue is the customer and the desire to make available the best possible service to them is what made us aspire to and successfully achieve the ISO certification." Vogue also launched its website with the Minister for Media and Information, Hon. Anura Priyadharshana Yapa doing the honors.