

World Economic Forum 2011

The Annual Meeting of the World Economic Forum in Davos-Klosters is a gathering of global leaders from industry, government, academia, civil society and the media. For over four decades it has proved to be an unrivalled platform to shape the global agenda and catalyse solutions at the start of each year. The theme this year was 'Shared Norms for the New Reality', reflecting the fact that we live in a world that is becoming increasingly complex and interconnected but also experiencing an erosion of common values and principles.
